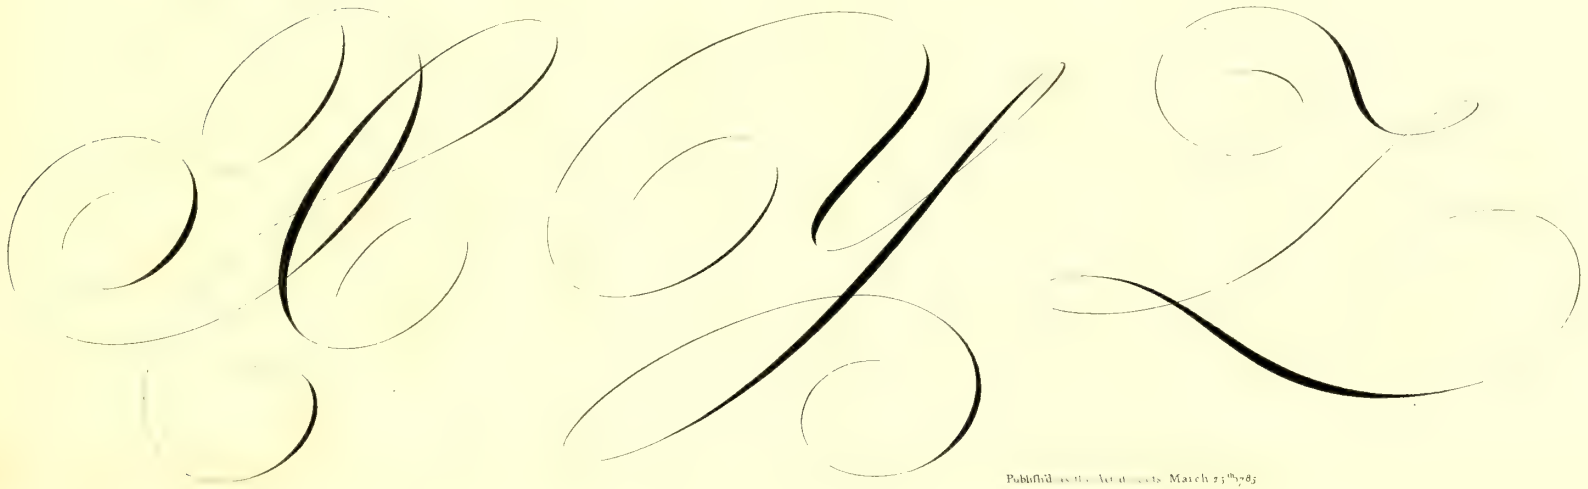
He most improves who studies with delight,
And learns sound morals whilst he learns to write.



Published as the Act directs March 25th 1785

Nature commands all men to behave themselves suitable to their several situations and employments.

Courteous behaviour is esteemed a commendable accomplishment.

We cannot expect pardon and peace without true repentance.

Dispose of the time past to observation and reflection,
time present to duty, and time to come to providence.

Publish'd as the Act directs March 25th 1785

All youth set right at first with ease go on,
And each new task is with new pleasure done.

Socrates said that learning is an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity: and those who give their children a good education furnish them with the means of making their lives virtuous and happy.

A sincere and worthy man governs his actions by the principles of the nicest honour.

The hand of diligence defeateth want; prosperity and success are the industrious man's attendants.

'Tis virtue softens all our toils,
With peace our conscience crowns,
Gives pleasure when our fortune smiles,
And courage when it frowns.

Murmur not at the dispensations of Providence; but endeavour to correct and improve thy heart.
